BOOK LISTS
Book lists have been sent home with students for 2016. If you have misplaced your 2016 booklist please see your class teacher or the office for another copy.

STUDENT RESOURCE SCHEME
Pomona State School in consultation with the P&C Association has chosen to operate a Student Resource Scheme for 2016 to assist parents with the cost and resourcing of additional educational resources that provide enhanced learning opportunities. The scheme is supported and approved by the School’s Parents and Citizens Association and operates under the policy and guidelines of The Department of Education and Training (DET). The scheme is not used to raise funds for other purposes. The scheme provides the entire package for the specified participation fee and is not available in parts.

Participation in the scheme is voluntary and there is no obligation placed on a parent/caregiver to participate. A parent/caregiver’s decision to participate is based on consideration of the value and convenience afforded by the scheme. However, please be aware that materials required under this scheme are not funded by school grants.

The purpose of the scheme is to provide the parent/caregiver with a cost effective more economical alternative to purchasing required resources and consumables through reduced prices gained from the school’s bulk purchasing processes. The provision of this scheme ensures that well-resourced learning by our students remains our key focus.

Total cost of the scheme is $60.00 per student and details of what is included in the scheme will be forthcoming, but includes subscriptions to Mathletics, Reading Eggs, Ebooks, Apps, school produced workbooks, as well as Design & Food Technology and Art supplies. Please do not make any payments this year, you will be invoiced early in 2016 after returning your participation agreement form, should you wish to participate.

If you do not wish to participate you will need to return the form and it will then be your responsibility to purchase/provide all the resources provided by the scheme.

FESTIVE SEASON
As the end of the school year approaches I know there will be plenty of students wishing to give their friends and class mates a little Christmas goodie. Please be mindful that not all students are able to receive these sweet treats and the giving of a Christmas card or a non-food item may be more suitable.

POMONA IN THE PARK
Students are rehearsing, parents are helping with costumes and teachers have planned a line-up of acts to showcase the talent we have at Pomona State School. The Arts are alive! What for, you may ask? Yes, it is the time of year when Pomona is able to sit back as the students of Pomona State School say thank you for the community support they have received this year.

Lights, Cameras Action! Thursday November 26th the Pomona State School’s annual community event ‘Pomona in the Park’ is on again. Family and friends from across the hinterland will once again converge on Stan Topper Park with their picnic rugs and hampers for an evening of fun and entertainment that culminates in a spectacular fireworks display.

Generous sponsorship by our major sponsors, Pages Furnishers and IGA Pomona, allow the students the opportunity to perform with the support of professional sound and lighting technicians and to showcase their achievements in The Arts, whilst the Lions keep everyone’s stomach full with a wonderful BBQ. The Pomona State School P&C Association is running a Mega Raffle. To be one of the winners, purchase your tickets prior to or during the evening but don’t miss out. The prizes are drawn throughout the concert.

The “show” commences at 5:30pm, so bring your rugs and cameras to Stan Topper Park on the evening of November 26th for an entertaining evening of song and dance.

Fabulous entertainment! Come and be amazed at the talent of the Pomona State School students.

CHAPPY’S WHEELBARROW RAFFLE

A reminder that we still need loads more to fill our wheelbarrow! Please drop off your donation at reception so we can start a great raffle for Christmas very soon.

Blessings.
Chappy
We have 9 grandchildren one of which is a delightful 3-year-old powerhouse who is the perfect little angel when she comes to visit Grandma and Pa, but, unfortunately, when her mother comes to pick her up we see a different little girl acting out altogether. Anyone know what I mean?

I always assure her mother that she has been perfectly well behaved for us much to her mother’s annoyance at her child’s best behaviour when she’s with someone else, but I can’t lie and tell her she has been a fair little miss, when she hadn’t.

“It is true, she likes her own way a lot of the time but we just deal with that when it arises,” I assure her mother.

“Well,” her mother says, “if she doesn’t change she’ll wind up with no one liking her at school.”

The Chaplain in me wanted to say, “I have a great book in my library at school that would work wonders if you are prepared to put in the effort now.” But instead, the grandmother in me said, “Well, she’s welcome here any time you need a break, dear.”

That book:

In his book The NEW Strong-Willed Child, Dr James Dobson offers practical how-tos on raising one of these little powerhouses, drawing on research and years of experience advising families.

You can find out what today’s most trusted authority on parenting has to say about:

- What makes strong-willed children the way they are
- Shaping the will while protecting the spirit
- Avoiding the most common parenting mistakes
- Disciplining the strong-will child
- Sibling rivalry
- Strong-willed children and ADHD

Dr James C. Dobson, Ph.D. is founder and chairman of Focus on the Family, a non-profit organisation that produces his internationally syndicated radio programs heard by more than 200 million people every day.

No parent likes to be told that they are playing right into their daughter’s hands by allowing the child to get them in such a state that they are yelling well before seven o’clock in the morning. But, if this is what’s happening it’s certainly no way to kick off the day. There has got to be another way, and there is. Dr Dobson tells us gently and calmly that all we are doing is making a rod for our back for the years to come then he goes on to paint the picture of how our morning unfolds as if he was there watching the scenes unfold.

I love watching the TV show The Nanny, that woman has all the answers necessary to change the dynamics of the household from hell, but then she is able to jump in a taxi at the end of the day and ride off into the night – every night. As much as we all would like to run away at times, we don’t because we are parents and deep within us is a love for our offspring that is so strong that we would protect them no matter what the cost.

Perhaps you know of someone who also has a powerhouse under their roof, the book is on the shelf now pop in and grab it before it goes.

Happy reading

Chappy Paulette

As the numbers of babies, toddlers and children hospitalised for swallowing button batteries is increasing, Kidsafe Queensland Inc is reiterating warnings that because button batteries can kill and cause catastrophic injury, it is akin to having a loaded gun in reach of children.

In Australia an estimated 20 children per week are attending an emergency department with an injury related to swallowing or inserting (into nose or ears) a button battery, with children under five years of age at greatest risk.

These shiny little batteries can present serious danger to children – and kill if they are not found in time. This is not just a choking hazard but deadly - a matter of life and death - because when it stops moving the saliva triggers an electrical current causing hydroxide – and, like oven cleaner, causes severe burns in the oesophagus in as little as two hours then keeps burning through layers of tissue.

Four-year-old Summer Steer died after a button lithium battery she had swallowed became lodged in her oesophagus. It slowly burnt a hole into her aorta and then suddenly it was too late to stem the blood flow and save her life.

A battery that no longer has enough power to open your garage door, or even play the jingle in the birthday card it came from, once swallowed still has the capacity to kill.

It is important we all think about how we dispose of batteries as kids can pick them up from the ground and even out of the kitchen tidy.

Teachers, parents, P&Cs and pastors should take full responsibility when providing rewards to children, fundraising with promotional items, giving tea light candles for Christmas plays or when changing and discarding batteries from remote controls or other products containing these button batteries. These products below have been recalled because of the ease of access to the batteries and dangers to children therefore should not be in a school or church or used for fundraising. The plastic candle is common in Christmas plays and uses a fully charged lithium battery which can kill within hours so should never be given to a child. Remember that older children take products home where younger siblings may gain access.

In order to minimise the risk of a child ingesting a coin button battery, Kidsafe has developed a list of tips for parents, caregivers and physicians:

- Know which products in your home have coin-sized batteries and keep these products out of sight and reach of children;
- Regularly check the screwed in battery compartments in toys and ensure other devices remain secure;
- When purchasing items that use coin-sized button batteries, choose those with screw down battery compartments or other features that make it difficult for children to access the battery;
- Choose products that do not contain button batteries;
- Dispose of spent and unused batteries immediately and safely – flat batteries are still dangerous;
- Store unused batteries in a locked cupboard out of sight and reach of children;
- If a child is suspected of swallowing a button battery or inserts one into their ear or nose, call Poisons Information Centre 13 11 26 and/or take them immediately to a hospital emergency department and request a low-radiation Xray;
- Warn others about the dangers of button batteries.
In the event a child in your care does ingest a coin button battery, the symptoms may include coughing, drooling and discomfort or no symptoms at all. Kidsafe advises carers to not let the child eat or drink and to immediately take the child to an emergency room.
